

LEG BROKEN WHEN HURLED FROM CAR

Willis Lady, Biglerville, Injured
At P. and R. Railroad Yards Here.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Has Fractured Left Leg And Lacerations
of Head. Earl Walter, Aspers, Slightly Hurt.

As the result of an accident which occurred in the Philadelphia and Reading railroad yards here this morning, Willis Lady, Biglerville, is lying in the Warner hospital with a fractured left leg and lacerations of the head.

Mr. Lady, a former resident of Gettysburg, is a prominent citizen of Biglerville, being a member of the School Board and superintendent of the Reformed Sunday School.

Shortly before 6 o'clock he and Earl Walter, of Aspers, who are both employees of the Philadelphia and Reading road, were riding on a motor car on the tracks between the station and the round house. Suddenly the motor car ran through an open switch and jumped the track, hurling both occupants off it.

"The accident happened so quickly," said Mr. Walter, who also received lacerations of the head, "that it is hard to explain just how Mr. Lady had his leg broken." It is thought, however, that the limb was fractured by the fall to the ground and that he was not run over by the motor car which was going about fifteen miles an hour at the time.

Several other railroad employees and men employed nearby ran to the switch when they saw an accident had occurred and picked up the injured man. A truck of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage Company was utilized to take both Mr. Lady and Mr. Walter to the Warner hospital.

After his leg was set Mr. Lady rested more comfortably and his condition is now announced as being improved. Mr. Walter left the hospital after his injuries were dressed.

WOMEN JOIN MOB STORMING JAIL

Sheriff Drives Off Massachusetts Throng That Sought to Lynch Negroes.

(By Associated Press)
Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 19.—A mob of nearly 200 men and women carrying ropes early today stormed the local jail threatening to lynch three Cape Verde Island negro prisoners charged with highway robbery and criminal assault on a young white woman at Buggard's Bay.

At 2:30 this morning 25 automobiles whose occupants included women as well as men drove up to the jail. Others came on foot and together they marched on the jail entrance. They demanded the three negroes from Sheriff Rosenthal. There were shouts, "Let's get them," as the mob approached the brick structure but when the jail defenders, five men in all, fired in the air the crowd came to a halt. Chief Warden Boland warned the mob back shouting that in the first attempt to attack the jail they would "be shot down like rats." The warning had its effect but the crowd remained outside the jail nearly 1½ hours still threatening attack while Sheriff Rosenthal and chief warden Boland and three others stood guard with shot guns.

All three of the prisoners have been identified by Gertrude Butler and William Eldridge as the men who held them up and criminally assaulted Miss Butler at Buzzard's Bay earlier in the week. Today was the second early morning threat of violence, one having been made yesterday to get the men out of the Wareham jail where they were lodged after being arrested. The mob was dispersed by guards when they fired over the heads of the approaching men.

CASES OF IMPORT ON AUGUST LIST

Lee Mowery, Newville, Will Face
Charge of Grand Larceny.

THIRTY TWO ON DOCKET

Norman Poper Charged With "Intent to Murder". Bittings Larceny Case
Scheduled to Come Up.

Several cases of unusual importance are scheduled to come before the August session of criminal court which opens here Monday morning.

Standing far above the others in the amount of interest attracted throughout this section of Pennsylvania is the case of the Commonwealth versus Lee Mowery, of Newville.

Mowery is charged with grand larceny by Detective Charles White, of Harrisburg. It is claimed by the prosecutor that he stole three valuable rings belonging to Mrs. C. Ross Boas, wife of a prominent Harrisburg jeweler, while she was at the Hotel Altland in Abbottstown. Mowery was arrested when he went to the First National Bank in Greencastle in an effort to collect a $1500 reward offered for the return of the rings. At 1 o'clock on the morning of July 29 he waived a hearing here before Justice of the Peace John L. Hill and was held under $500 bail for the August session of court. His father furnished cash bail after making a hurried automobile trip to Gettysburg from Newville.

Norman Poper, who caused a mild sensation on Railroad street last month when he fired a shotgun at a party of persons who had just come in from an automobile trip, is charged on oath of Sergeant Charles D. Santee with "assault with a loaded shot gun with attempt to commit murder."

The complicated larceny case of the Commonwealth versus Edward Wolf, Amos Wolf and Eugene Sipling, the three Bittings men whom it is alleged stole hams, lard and sugar from James J. Comfort, is also on the list of cases scheduled for August.

Harold Uhler, truck driver, is charged with assault and battery on oath of Dr. J. H. Hildebrand, Biglerville. This case is the outcome of a recent accident on the Gettysburg-Biglerville road when the truck driven by Uhler hit the car of Dr. Hildebrand from the rear.

The last case on the list, which totals thirty two, is that of the Commonwealth versus Moses Hungate alias John Jones, charged on oath of Sergeant Santee with selling liquor without a license. This case developed recently when the Sergeant and Sheriff John Hartman nabbed Hungate at the road camp near York Springs, where it is alleged he conspired.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM INJURY

Wife of York Springs Postmaster Thrown From Horse On to Machine.

To be thrown from the back of a horse to the radiator of an automobile, to roll from the radiator to the running board of the machine and to escape with only a bruised ankle was the experience Thursday evening of Mrs. John Gibb, wife of the postmaster at York Springs.

About sunset Thursday evening, Mrs. Gibb was riding up street in York Springs, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Isabelle Gibb, and Mrs. E. D. Hudson, Jr. The party saw an automobile approaching from the direction of Dillsburg, and separated, Mrs. Gibb turning her horse to the left.

In several seconds Mrs. N. C. Ziegler, of Dillsburg, who was driving the car, struck the horse, knocking it down and breaking a hind leg. Mrs. Gibb fortunately escaped injury by being thrown clear of the horse and on to the radiator, from where she rolled to the running board.

It was necessary to shoot the horse, which was owned by Earl Miller, of York Springs.

Mrs. Ziegler, wife of the Dillsburg man who was killed in an accident a short time ago, was accompanied by another woman.

Attack.

David Knepper, one of the best known residents of Mont Alto, died Thursday at his home in Mont Alto. Heart trouble was the cause of his death. David Knepper was born at Funks-town, now Mont Alto, Quincy township, on March 16, 1844, the son of George and Mary (McFerren) Knepper, both natives of Franklin county. DRAW FOR BALLOT PLACES

Local Candidate Appears In Person and Wins First.

E. P. Miller, Gettysburg, candidate for re-election as associate judge in this county, was among the office seekers who appeared in person Thursday at Harrisburg for the purpose of drawing position on the primary ballot. Mr. Miller drew first place.

Dozens of candidates for judicial and constitutional convention nominations or their representatives appeared in the office of Secretary of the Commonwealth Myers, in Harrisburg, to draw lots for position on the ballot under the new law establishing such system of determination instead of the alphabetical method. The drawing lasted most of the afternoon and where no one appeared Secretary Myers designated persons to draw.

The ceremony attracted much attention, especially as several well known judges were there and Miss Mary L. Trescott, of Wilkes-Barre, the only woman judicial candidate for nomination. There was no drawing for supreme court places.

MEET IN GROWERS' HALL

State College Extension Agent Discusses Marketing. More Apple Producing Trees in Bearing.

That Adams county orchards will produce more fruit than was predicted during the spring following the killing freezes of March and April was the opinion of the thirty growers who made a tour Thursday of six orchards where experiments are being conducted in the control of tree pests. The tour which was arranged by S. B. Shenk, acting farm agent, started at the orchard of G. M. Bucher, Cash-town, and ended at Bendersville where a meeting was held in the Fruit Growers' Hall, Bendersville, that evening.

While the chief purpose of the tour was to see and discuss the experiments in progress in certain orchards under the direction of R. C. Walton and S. W. Frost, of the Arendtsville Research Laboratory, it provided an opportunity to observe and to judge with accuracy the extent of the crop. It was evident that a number of growers do not have enough fruit for their own use, but generally speaking, it is believed, the local yield will surpass the estimate for the state which was twenty per cent of normal. These observations were made in the heart of the apple growing district, but were not county-wide.

C. G. Vinson, extension pomologist of State College, was the principal speaker of the evening meeting in Fruit Growers' Hall. He spoke informally on the general subject of marketing. He pointed out that virtually as many young trees were coming on in this state as are at present bearing and that in importance the problem of marketing had surpassed that of producing. Mr. Vinson urged co-operation of the local growers in bringing about uniform packing and grading laws. He declared that unless successful efforts were made to enlarge the apple market in the east, there would be an over-supply in normal producing years. The smaller city market, he said, offers a big field for development in this state.

Mr. Frost and Mr. Walton, of Arendtsville, who described the experiments at the orchards of the growers visited the orchards discussed various phases of the control of pests at the evening meeting.

The tour started at the farm of G. M. Bucher, Cashtown, and stopped at the orchards of the following men: Roy Raffensberger, near Biglerville; D. N. Minnick, A. W. Griest, Tyson Brothers and D. S. Slaybaugh.

GATHER AT NINTH ANNUAL PICNIC

Clay Bird Shoot And Ball Game
At Marsh Creek Club

Outing.

A clay bird shoot and a baseball game featured the ninth annual picnic of the Marsh Creek Hunting Club held Thursday afternoon and evening at Caledonia Park.

Sixty five members of the club, including their families, journeyed to the Park and partook of a large chicken dinner at 12 o'clock.

The first event of the afternoon was the clay bird shoot at which John Bream, Arthur Hutchinson and Earl Deatrick established the high scores of the afternoon. Twenty five out of twenty eight was the figure. Harmon Zinn, aged 16, shot well up among the leaders with 20 out of 28.

On account of the danger of hitting some of the visitors in the park, the Club dispensed with the still target shoot and the running deer shoot.

A ball game between Arthur Hutchinson's team and John Bream's team resulted in a 7-4 victory for the former. Bream was the heaviest hitter with a homer and a triple.

Following dancing at the pavilion and supper the members left the park at 8:30 o'clock over the Lincoln Highway for their homes.

CAN CONCEDE NO MORE TO IRELAND

Premier Lloyd George Makes Expected Statement to House of Commons.

DISCLAIMS ANY MENACE

England Still Hopes That Long Misunderstanding Will Be Settled.
Prime Minister Declares.

(By Associated Press)
London, Aug. 19.—The British government in its Irish peace offer had conceded everything it was possible to concede Premier Lloyd George declared to the House of Commons today in his expected statement on the Irish peace negotiations.

It embodied the largest measure of freedom ever offered Ireland, he said, and he hoped the Irish leaders would not reject and take the responsibility of renewing a conflict which would be "robbed of all glory and all gratitude by its over-shadowing horror."

Mr. Lloyd George disclaimed any menace for his words. He declared, however, that the government in making its terms had done everything it could to secure peace and the good will of the people of Ireland and that it was faced with the possibility through something that had been said that its terms would be rejected. In that case he said the country would face a graver situation regarding Ireland than ever before.

Therefore, he said, provision had been made for summoning of parliament on forty eight hours notice if negotiations broke down and the prospects of peace became hopeless. He hoped, however, that reason would prevail and the government desire for an ending of the long misunderstanding between England and Ireland would be realized.

DEADLOCK OVER ANTI-BEER BILL

Measure Seems Likely Not to Pass Before Congress Adjourns.

MAY PERMIT PRESCRIPTION

Fight Centers on Clause That Would Safeguard The Home From Search And Seizure.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The Stanley amendment to the Anti-beer Bill—designed to safeguard, through heavy penalties, a man's home and property from illegal search for liquor—was regarded last night as the stumbling block in the way of the measure's final enactment prior to the recess next week of Congress.

The fight over this provision of the bill, adopted unanimously by the Senate, broke unexpectedly in the Senate yesterday, and prohibition leaders declared it was more than likely all beer legislation would go over until fall, with the possibility that the Treasury Department in the meanwhile might issue regulations under which beer could be manufactured and prescribed for the sick.

Because of the "evident intention" of Senate conferees to destroy the effect of the Stanley amendment, Senator Ashurst (Democrat) of Arizona "bolted" the conference, announcing that he would take no part therein or sign any report unless the amendment was retained precisely as originally written. Senator Ashurst told the Senate the effect of the House substitute would legalize home manufacture of beer and liquor.

Amendment Wrecked

At the end of an all-day wrangle in conference and in the Senate, according to leaders, the whole course of the proposed anti-beer legislation hinged upon hope of agreement by Senate and House managers. While Senator Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, chairman of the conference, declined to indicate how the members stood, the result of the day's deliberation was said to have been the virtual wrecking of the amendment from the shape in which it received a unanimous vote.

House managers were said to have agreed to leave it intact, so far as it related specifically to the searching of a home on a warrant obtained under the general law, with a demand that severe penalties, put there as a means of protecting the home, be sharply cut.

Opposed to Protecting Baggage

During the Senate debate there were insistent demands that a man's property, including his barn, his baggage, automobile or garage, should be subjected to the same safeguards that surround his actual place of abode. But the conferees were reported to have agreed to a modification that a warrant would not be required to search "other property," provided a prohibition officer had reason to believe that suspect was guilty and if the search was not prompted by malice.

In other respects, the differences in the Senate and House measures were reconciled, but they had not been expected to provoke a fight. Leaders said the House would accept the changes indicated, although they frankly expressed doubt as to the possible attitude of the Senate, even if the Senate managers should meet the House demands.

"Drys" May Wait

So pronounced was the opposition of House prohibition leaders to the Stanley amendment that they indicated privately a willingness to let the beer regulations be issued rather than accept it as drawn. At all events there were grave doubts as to whether the bill could be sent to the President for his approval before the recess.

ASK SHIP OWNERS TO SHARE LOSSES

Lasker Announces Adoption of "Bare Boat" Charter System. To Be Gradual Change.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Decision to substitute a "bare boat" charter for the system under which practically all Shipping Board vessels are now operated was announced last night by Chairman Lasker, after a conference with President Harding. Instead of the boats being turned over to operators on a 5 per cent commission basis, it is the board's intention to adopt a uniform charter under which its vessels will be leased on a tonnage basis, the lessee assuming the same risks of profit or loss as he would under the routine commercial charter.

Have Saved Only Gains

Under the charter now employed, known as the Managing-Operators' Agreement, Mr. Lasker explained, both the Government and the operator profited when traffic was plentiful and rates high, but only the Government lost when there was a surplus of tonnage causing a decline in rates below the point where they would not meet operating expenses.

Admiral Benson, shortly before he resigned from the chairmanship, inaugurated the "bare boat" charter in a few cases with a view, he then announced, of enabling the new board to determine whether it was desirable to substitute this as a policy for the operating agreement.

To Make Change Gradually

The Shipping Board has ordered a survey made as a basis for working out details of the new rental plan. Those having charge of the work were instructed to submit their report within 30 days, but it was emphasized by Mr. Lasker yesterday that no general cancellation of existing charters would be made. Rather, he said, the board would attempt to put the change into effect gradually in order that the least injury possible would be done to the interests of operators.

SOUTH SEEKS THE IMMIGRANT

Argentina Welcomes Them With Open Arms. Helps Them Get Started.

Buenos Aires, Aug. 19.—While the United States is decreasing the number of immigrants admitted into the country, Argentina, with thousands of fertile acres that have never felt a plow, is welcoming them with open arms, and is even feeding and lodging them while helping them to find employment.

After setting foot in Argentina the immigrant is welcomed into a spotless, comfortable hotel where, in addition to being supplied free of charge with every personal necessity and convenience, he is taught by means of motion pictures and lectures something of the new land in which he is to make his home and is aided, when possible, to find employment. On deciding upon his destination within the country, the immigrant is supplied with free transportation to that place.

While the majority of immigrants arriving in the country are Spaniards and Italians, Germans are now arriving, together with some from other countries. Although the Germans come here third-class on account of the low value of the mark, many of them are skilled workers and even professional men. They bring with them quantities of machinery and equipment with which to start their new life.

HAS OWN FUEL SUPPLY

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 19.—A rich vein of coal, two feet thick, was found yesterday right under the curbstone of Harry Lord, of North Third street. There is no doubt the vein contains thousands of tons of coal, but it cannot be mined, as such action would weaken buildings of great value.

The excavation by which the coal was discovered was made to place a gasoline tank under the pavement. Lord took a ton of the coal out and found it of good burning quality. The find is near the Court House, and shows, as has been believed, that large quantities of coal are immediately underneath the Schuylkill county temple of justice.

RUSSIAN PACT IS SATISFACTORY

Secretary Hoover Announces Feeding of Starving Millions to Start.

AMERICANS IN CONTROL

Soviet Assures Workers Sent There Will Be Protected to Make Strict Passport Rules.

Washington, Aug. 19.—A satisfactory agreement has been reached with the Soviet authorities at Riga under which the American Relief Administration will begin immediately to fight famine among the children of Russia, Secretary Hoover announced yesterday. The agreement, he added, accepts the conditions laid down by the American organization for safeguarding the lives of relief workers and insuring American control of food supplies.

While the negotiations have come to a successful conclusion, the Secretary explained, it may be a day or two before a formal agreement is signed. Important details, such as means of transportation and location of serious famine areas, remain to be worked out, he said, before the final document is drafted.

Work Will Begin At Once

The work of food relief in Russia will begin at once, Mr. Hoover declared, adding that the New York office of the Administration was already preparing vessels to rush supplies to Danzig for trans-shipment into Russia. The quantity of food, however, which will be needed, it is understood, cannot be determined until a survey of Russian famine conditions is made.

It is expected the supplies will be the same as were used in relief work among the children of Poland and Austria, comprising a lighter and more easily digestible diet than is necessary for adults and probably including condensed milk, sugar, pork, flour, cocoa, beans and rice. It is believed that the Administration can depend upon the country for local vegetables.

A letter from President Harding endorsing the effort to mitigate famine in Russia and asking unity of the relief work in one American organization was made public by Mr. Hoover.

Harding Writes Letter

"My particular purpose in addressing this letter to you," the President said, "is to emphasize my wish that the distribution in Russia of all charity arising in the United States should be carried on through one American organization. It is only through single American representation and administration that we can assure to both American and Russian people the best service in the use of their funds."

"I am asking the Department of State to co-operate in directing that passports be given for travel in Russia only to persons who may be in the service of the American Relief Association."

"It is also of importance that the American people should be protected, so far as we can do so, from those persons who may wish to thrive on great disasters by creating unnecessary organizations to collect charity."

The President's letter was transmitted by Mr. Hoover to the Children's Relief organizations, comprising the European Relief Council, and a meeting of that body was called for early next week to consider joint arrangements to be undertaken for Russian administration.

FIND FOSSIL MONSTER

Joplin, Mo., Aug. 19.—The petrified remains of what is believed to be a pre-historic reptile or deep sea monster of gigantic proportions, has been uncovered on a farm near Racine, Mo., 15 miles south of here.

The general contour of the fossil is in a good state of preservation and resembles a giant lizard. The head is two feet long. The forelegs measure 12 feet in length and the petrified object is 24 feet long, from head to tail, the tail measuring 12 feet. Imbedded in the legs of the monster are numerous fossils and shells. This led many persons who visited the scene of the discovery to the belief that it might have inhabited the sea in prehistoric days.

The remains are white on the outside, resembling limestone, but on the inside they are the color of flint and extremely hard. A communication has been sent to the Smithsonian Institution asking that an investigation be made.

SEIZE YACHT LOAD OF FINE BOOZE

Cleveland Police Capture Imported Wines And Liquors at Whisky Island.

Cleveland, Aug. 18.—Police early yesterday took seven men and four women into custody in a spectacular seizure of the steam yacht Venice, said to be in the service of a whisky ring operating in Canada and the United States. The seizure, made at Whisky Island, west of the Cuyahoga River, netted 95 cases of imported wines and liquors.

Six of the men seized, including Captain William L. Curry, of Toronto, said to be the owner of the yacht, are held at police headquarters. All are charged with violating the prohibition law. The seventh man, the engineer, will be taken to headquarters later. The four women were not booked, but were held for investigation.

The police seized the Venice on a telephone tip from Captain Hansen, of the coast guard, that the yacht after steaming past the harbor entrance several times, had switched off all lights and docked.

When the police arrived at the dock, a large automobile truck was being loaded from the yacht. A warning cry went up when the officers appeared and lines were cast off and an attempt made to swing the yacht from the dock and escape. Police leaped aboard, smashed in the cabin windows and at the point of revolvers ordered the crew to surrender.

Besides Captain Curry, the crew gave their names as Norman Turner, Toronto; John Lawson, Toronto; Michael Parle, Kingston, Ont., and Jay Burney and William Kempert, of Cleveland. The engineer's name was not given but one of the women detained is said to be his wife.

Captain Curry, according to Police Captain Costello, admitted he had also been captain of the yacht Tranquillo, seized by police here last June, owning the yacht when it was seized. Curry said the liquor seized yesterday was valued at $15,000, and the yacht at $50,000. The liquor was placed on the yacht at Toronto, Curry said. The women, he said, had no knowledge of the nature of the enterprise, believing they were on a pleasure trip. All four women are from Canada, one being a Montreal stenographer, Curry said.

FREIGHT RATES STOP PRODUCTION

Wallace Says Railroads Must Share Burden With The Farmers.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Railroads must share with the farmers and others the burden of the present economic situation by reducing freight rates, Secretary Wallace said yesterday before the Interstate Commerce commission, which is investigating rates on grain and hay.

High freight rates have stopped production, the secretary said, adding that if the present situation continued, production from the farms would be reduced materially.

"We cannot afford to let our agriculture be destroyed," he declared. "In attempting to relieve the distress of the farmers we are dealing with great economic forces. All our people ought to share the burden of the present depression."

The farmer now was bearing more than his share of the economic debt, he said, because the purchasing power of farm products was below the average of other commodities. He presented figures to show that in Iowa the purchasing power of oats was forty-eight per cent of what it was from 1909 to 1914.

Reductions in freight rates on the commodities under investigation, especially on hay, the secretary said, would be reflected in a larger volume of traffic and therefore in greater revenues for the railroads. The prosperity of the railroads, he added, depended in a large measure upon the prosperity of the farmers.

WOULD MAKE LAWS FOR MEN OF THE AIR

Question of Whether Situation Requires Amendment Will Come Up.

Cincinnati, Aug. 19.—One of the most interesting and unusual features to be introduced and discussed at the convention of the American Bar Association, to be held here Aug. 30 to Sept. 2, will be the matter of recommending the enactment of constitutional law to bring about the proper solution of the demands of aeronautics.

The recommendation that such action be taken comes from a special committee on the law of aviation, which in its report to the executive committee of the association expresses its hope that in the enactment of any legislation by Congress, the most careful preliminary consideration be given to the constitutional features of any proposed legislation, to the Farm Products Advance 1.75 Per Cent During Last Month.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Retail food prices increased 2.7 per cent in July over June prices, while the prices of wholesale foodstuffs advanced 1.5 per cent and wholesale farm products 1.75 per cent, the Department of Labor announced yesterday.

Of 43 articles on which retail prices were obtained 16 showed increases including potatoes 26 per cent, eggs 20, butter 16, and sirloin steak 1 per cent. Decreases were noted in 23 articles, including sugar 9 per cent, cabbage 8, onions 5 and bananas 2 per cent.

The general increase in prices in St. Paul was 9 per cent; in Milwaukee and Minneapolis 8, and Buffalo, Detroit and Rochester 7. In Los Angeles there was a decrease of 2 per cent. Norfolk one and in Dallas, Little Rock and Omaha, the decrease was less than five-tenths of one per cent.

Wholesale prices dropped during the month in all commodities as they are grouped by the Department, except foodstuffs and farm products, the decreases varying from one-half of one per cent in clothes and clothing at six per cent in house furnishings.

Building materials went down one per cent, fuel and lighting 1.5, and chemicals and drugs 1.75 per cent. Wholesale prices of metals and metal products decreased 5.25 per cent.

DISARM OR BUST

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—An appeal to business men to study the economic side of the disarmament problem was made before the Rotary Club here Wednesday by George W. Norris, governor of the Third Federal Reserve Bank. His topic was "Disarm or Bust."

He exhibited a tabulation showing that in the United States, the average family of five was taxed annually before the war $1.15 for debt charges; $23.10 for military expenditures and $8.75 for other expenses of the Federal Government, making a total of $33, while now the taxes were $43.25 for debt charges, $54.10 for military expenditures and $11.45 for other expenditures, or a total of $214.80.

Corresponding figures for other nations showed Italy's annual family tax, $642.65; France's, $633.30, and Great Britain, $548.90.

DENIES CRUELTY CHARGE

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 19.—Charges of cruelty to inmates of the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, made by Mrs. Charles P. Lummer, a state prison inspector, in an address at Philadelphia, are denied by Mrs. Frances R. Wilson, superintendent of the home, but were substantiated by two girls, who had been removed to the county jail here following an outbreak at the home several weeks ago.

These girls, Marion Ludwig and Dorothy Frazer, both declared that they had been beaten at the home by the superintendent herself.

GIRL BURNS TO DEATH

Riverside, N. J., Aug. 19.—Cesqua Frengki, a six-year-old girl, is dead of burns caused, it is charged, by seven-year-old John Kassapa. Corner LeConey is holding the boy in the custody of his own parents.

It is alleged that the children were playing in a group, when the boy made a torch of old newspapers and chased the little girl. Catching up to her, he pressed the torch against her dress, which took fire. She ran screaming to her home.

PREDICTED MURDER IN WILL

Chicago, Aug. 19.—One of the oddest wills ever recorded in Cook county was filed Thursday by heirs of the late Patrick W. Dunne, father of former Governor Edward F. Dunne. Addressed as a letter to his wife, Mrs. Sara Dunne, of Lake Forest, the will reads:

"My Dear Wife:—In case of sudden death from violence at the hands of your brother, William H. Condon, or from other causes, I hereby declare this to be my last will and testament. I hereby leave and bequeath to you all the personal property I may possess for your use and benefit."

Dunne was 90 years old when he died last April, leaving an estate of $10,000. Condon was at one time a member of the State Legislature and was considered eccentric. Newspaper files show he once had two suits pending, one for $5,000,000 against the Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad, and the other for 7 cents against a newsboy.

Helen—"I saw Harold pick up one of my gloves and put it in his pocket at the dance last evening." Ellen—"My dear! It's a sure sign. He'll be proposing to you next." Helen—"I wonder? I was afraid his action might be just a part of this universal crime wave."—American Legion Weekly.

FOREIGN TRADE LAGS

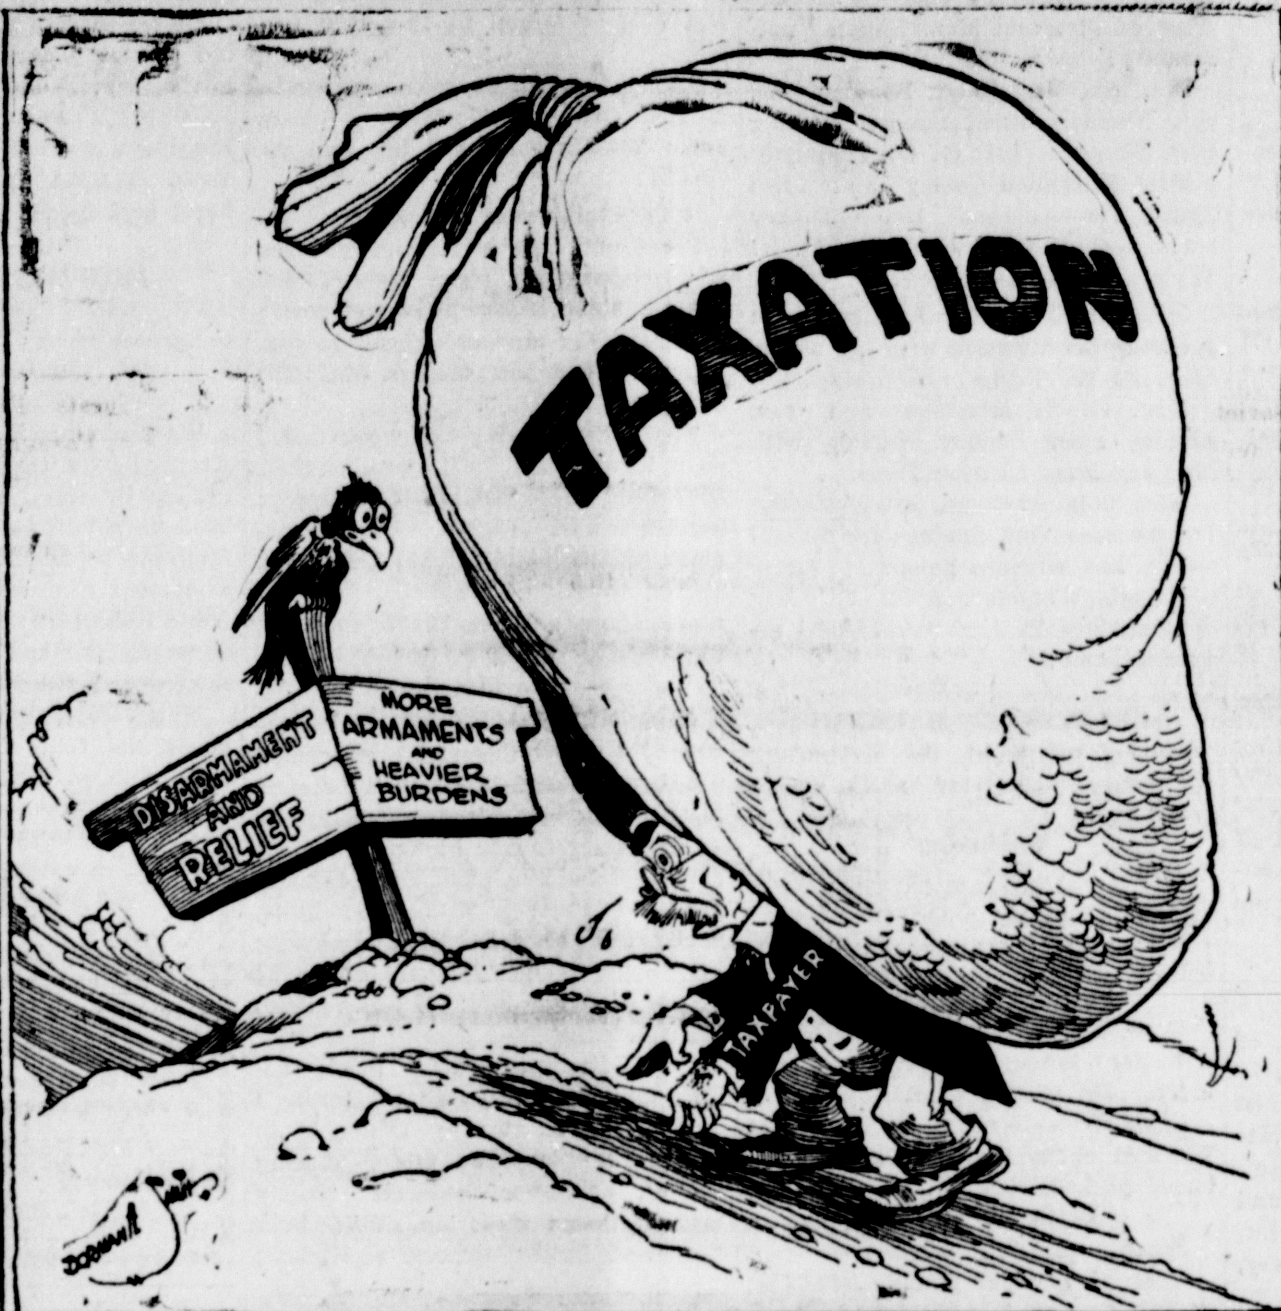

Washington, Aug. 19.—The decrease of over $3,000,000,000 in the value of the country's foreign trade during the past fiscal year was ascribed by the commerce department yesterday to the worldwide trade depression coming as an aftermath of the war.

Lower prices rather than diminished quantities were to a great extent responsible for the decrease in exports, the department asserted in a statement reviewing the year's foreign commerce.

The total value of the foreign trade of the country dropped from $13,347,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920 to $10,717,000,000 in 1921, a decrease of 23.8 per cent, the statement showed.

Remember this slogan: "Prevent Forest Fires—It Pays."

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS

Martin was a mining engineer; he had been employed in a Nevada mine, but was visiting his cousin in the valley now before going to a new position in June. In its informal fashion, Mill Valley had entertained him; he had tramped to the big forest five miles away with the Stricklands, and there had been a picnic to the mountain-top, everybody making the hard climb except Peter Joyce, who was a trifle lame, and perhaps a little lazy as well, and who usually rode an old horse, with the lunch in saddle-bags at each side. Alix formulated her theories of platonic friendships on these walks; Anne dreamed a foolish, happy dream. Girls did marry, men did take wives to themselves, dreamed Anne; it would be unspeakably sweet, but it would be no miracle!

It was just after that mountain picnic that Cherry had come home; on a Sunday, as it chanced, that was her eighteenth birthday, and on which Martin and his aunt were coming to dinner. Alix had marked the occasion by wearing a loose velvet gown in which she fancied herself; Anne had conscientiously decorated the table, had seen to it that there was ice cream, and chicken, and all the accessories that make a Sunday dinner in the country a national institution. Cherry had done nothing helpful.

On the contrary, she had disgraced herself and infuriated Hong by deciding to make fudge the last minute. Hong had finally relegated her to the laundry, and it was from this limbo that Martin, laughing joyously, extricated her, when, sticky and repentant, she had called for help. It was Martin who untied the checked brown apron, disentangling from the strings the silky gold tendrils that were blowing over Cherry's white neck, and Martin who opened the door for her sugary fingers, and Martin who had been in her story, did not hear him, but Anne smiled faintly, and faintly frowned as she shook her head. She considered Cherry sufficiently precocious without Uncle Lee's ill-considered tolerance.

He would have had them always children, this tender, simple, innocent Dr. Strickland. He was in many ways a child himself. He had never made money in his profession; he and his wife and the two tiny girls had had a hard enough struggle sometimes. Anne and her own father had joined the family eight years ago, in the same year that the Strickland patent fire extinguisher, over which the doctor had been pattering for years, had been sold. It did not sell, as his neighbors believed, for a million dollars, but for perhaps one-tenth of that sum. It was enough, and more than enough, whatever it was. After Anne's father died it meant that the doctor could live on in the brown house under the redwoods, with his girls, reading, fussing with a new invention, walking, consulting with Anne, laughing at Alix, and spoiling his youngest-born.

It was a perfect life for the old man; it was only lately that he begun uneasily to suspect that they would some day want something more, that they would some day tire of empty forest and blowing mountain ridge, and go away from the shadow of Mt. Tamalpais, and into the world.

Anne, now—was she beginning to fancy this young Lloyd? Dr. Strickland was surprised with the fervor with which he repudiated the thought. This young engineer, who had drifted already into a dozen different and distant places, was not the man for staid little Anne.

"What did you want to see Mr. Lloyd about tomorrow, Dad?" Cherry interrupted his thoughts to ask.

"The rose vine. What did he say about coming over, Cherry?"

Cherry remarked, between two rending yawns, that Mr. Lloyd was coming over tomorrow at ten o'clock, and Peter, too—

"Peter won't be much good!" Alix commented. Cherry looked at her reproachfully.

"You're awfully mean to Peter, lately!" she protested. Her father gave her a shrewd look, with his good-night kiss, and immediately afterward both the younger girls dragged their way up to bed.

Alix and Cherry shared a bare, woody-smelling room tucked away under brown eaves. The walls were of raw pine, the latticed windows, in bungalow fashion, opened into the fragrant darkness of the night. The beds were really bunks, and above her bunk each girl had an extra berth, for occasional guests. There was scant prettiness in the room, and yet it was full of purity and charm. The girls, like all their neighbors, were hardy, bred to cold baths, long walks, simple hours, and simple food. In the soft western climate they left their bedroom windows open the year round; they liked to wake to winter damp and fog, and go downstairs with blue finger-tips and chattering teeth, to warm themselves with breakfast and the fire.

Alix rolled herself in a gray army blanket, and was asleep in some sixty seconds. But Cherry felt that she was floating in seas of new joy and utter delight, and that she would never be sleepy again.

Downstairs Anne and the doctor sat staidly on, the man dreaming with a knotted forehead, the girl sewing. Presently she ran a needle through her fine white work with severe, tiny stitches, folded it, and put her thumb into a case that hung from her orderly workbag with a long ribbon.

"Wait a minute, Anne," said the doctor, as she straightened herself to rise. "This young Lloyd, now—what do you think of him?"

She widened demure blue eyes.

"Should you be sorry if I—liked him, Uncle Lee?" she smiled.

The old man rumbled his silver hair restlessly.

"That's the way the wind blows, eh?" he asked kindly.

"Well—you see how much he's here! You see the flowers and books and notes. I'm not the sort of girl to wear my heart on my sleeve," Anne, who was fond of small conversational tags, assured him merrily. "But there must be some fire where there's so much smoke!" she ended.

"You're not sure, my dear?" he asked, after some thought.

"Oh, no!" she answered. "It's just a fancy that persists in coming and going." She got to her feet, saying brightly, "Well! we mustn't take this too gravely—yet. It was only that I wanted to be open and above-board with you, uncle, from the beginning. That's the only honest way."

"That's wise and right!" her uncle answered, in the kindly, absent tone he had used to them as children, a tone he was apt to use to Anne when she was in her highest mood, and one she rather resented.

News of more "firsts" established by Studebaker cars has just been received by Epley & Slaybaugh, local distributors of Studebaker cars.

This is a Studebaker Year

A dispatch from Nevada City, Nevada, states that the first automobile to come over the Yuba Pass under its own power this year was a Studebaker, carrying Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lister, of Boise Valley, Idaho, and their children, together with camping equipment weighing nearly 500 pounds. They are en route for their home to Southern California, and essayed the difficult trip over the Yuba Pass without experiencing trouble.

From Spokane, Wash., comes the report of another Studebaker piloted by J. H. Collins, of Colville, accompanied by his wife, who drove their car to Seattle and established the record of first crossing the Snoqualmie Pass. There is always considerable interest in the first car to come over this pass leading over the Cascade range, as it is usually blocked with snow until late in the season. Upon leaving Seattle Mr. Collins was told that the pass would not be open, but he determined to set out and go as far as he could. On the summit he was held up for nearly an hour waiting for workmen to let him through. He encountered more than eight miles of snow in making the ascent, and had to resort to chains in negotiating this stretch.

To a Studebaker car has gone the honor of replacing the malamute dogs and horse stages away up in the far northern snow-covered country of Alaska. It is a touring car, too, that is doing this job and it is being operated by Jack Collins, a "sour dough" on the route of Anchorage, Alaska. Latest reports state that the car is proving its ability to travel anywhere the malamute dogs and horse stages can go, and to cover the ground in one-third the time.

BLUE RIDGE LEAGUE

THURSDAY SCORES

Hanover 3—Chambersburg 1. Frederick 14—Martinsburg 5. Waynesboro 6—Hagerstown 2.

HOW THEY STAND

	W. L. PER.
Frederick	47 32 .594
Hanover	40 35 .533
Waynesboro	42 38 .525
Martinsburg	39 39 .500
Chambersburg	40 41 .493
Hagerstown	25 48 .342

GILBERT A WINNER

With Gilbert, who twirled for McSherrystown last Saturday and Sunday, in the box, Waynesboro humbled Hagerstown Thursday by the count of 6-2. He was strong in the pinches and kept the seven hits well scattered.

TURNED THE TABLES

By scoring three runs in the first inning of Thursday's contest the Hanover nine was able to defeat Chambersburg, 3-1. The game was a pitchers battle between Lefty Oakes and Jensen. Oakes and Cadden made the only extra base hits of the game.

TOO MUCH FREDERICK

The fast going Frederick nine accumulated fourteen hits at the expense of Martinsburg, winning easily 14-5. Blenhen made four hits and Neptune three.

MURMURS FROM THE MAJORS

"Donnie" Bush, a mainstay of the Detroit Tiger infield for the past thirteen years and long considered one of the leading shortstops in baseball, will go to the Washington Senators via the waiver route. New York also wanted Bush but the Senators won the draw. "Donnie" is an especial friend of Eddie Plank. In the late fall of 1916 when Art Kohler went from Gettysburg to Detroit, "Donnie" took special pains to get the big catcher well acquainted with the Tiger players.

It is a regular daily habit for you to get out of bed, wash, dress and go to work. Well it's just as regular a habit now for Babe Ruth to walk up to the plate, take a swing and knock the ball out of the lot. He hit his forty sixth homer Thursday and has only nine to make to break his own world's record.

BLEATS FROM THE BUSHES

That Baltimore Oriole Club continues to smash all kinds of old records and establish all kinds of new ones. Thursday the members of the team made eleven consecutive hits in a game against Rochester. Jack Bentley made two hits in one inning and eight during the afternoon. Any major league club would welcome Bentley into the fold but wise old Jack Dunn won't sell him.

Hanover fans went freely Thursday when they learned that the New Haven club of the Eastern League had recalled Walter Feid, hard hitting outfielder, who is well known to many Gettysburg fans. He will join Chief Bender's team this week. Frank Goff will be sent to the outfield and Manager Bert Weeden will go behind the bat in order to fill the vacancy.

TOO MUCH NECK OUT

Zion, Ill., Aug. 19—Mrs. Elizabeth Naden, of Zion, was arrested yesterday by Policeman Isaac Parry for wearing a dress the neck of which was cut so low, according to the complaint, as to "partially show or expose the neck and shoulders of the wearer lower than the juncture of the pit of the neck with the clavicle or collarbone."

She is the second woman to be arrested, since Wilbur Glenn Voiva, overseer of Zion, issued his law against immodest dress. The ordinance declares such clothing "if worn in public or in places within public view shall be deemed immodest, vulgar, indecent and suggestive of low and vicious morals and tending to debase innocence and purity and degrade the best interests of society."

When You Write it Down You Think It Over

You think twice before you write a check. That's why we say a check is a damper on reckless expenditure. The time required to write a check gives you a chance to consider whether the expenditure is wise.

But that's not the only reason personal checking accounts are so popular. Another reason is that a check is its own receipt.

We shall be glad to have you open such an account with us.

PRESS MEN GOING TO HONOLULU

Plans Perfected For Permanent Organization of Pacific Lands.

Honolulu, T. H., Aug. 19—Tentative plans for the permanent organization of newspaper and magazine men of Pacific lands are being drawn up at Columbia, Mo., by Dr. Walter Williams, president of the press congress of the world, which will meet in Honolulu next October, according to advices received from Alexander Hume Ford, secretary-director of the Pan-Pacific union, who is in the continental United States helping arrange plans for the press congress and other international gatherings to be held here.

The outline for the Pacific organization, which contemplates a biennial Pan-Pacific press gathering in Honolulu, will be submitted to Dr. Walter B. Pitkin, of Columbia university, New York, to Henry Stead, of Melbourne, Australia and to other journalistic leaders in countries bordering the Pacific.

The first biennial Pan-Pacific press convention, says Mr. Ford, is scheduled for the summer of 1922, when, it is expected, President Harding will meet premiers of Pacific countries in Honolulu.

Doctor Williams has written to each of the Pacific countries, requesting that a paper be prepared on journalism in each for presentation on the last day of the sessions of the press congress of the world in October, which has been set apart as Pan-Pacific press day.

All the delegates will be invited to the morning sessions, at which Dr. Williams will preside, and in the afternoon organization of the permanent Pan-Pacific press congress will be undertaken. Speaking of the plan in a recent letter from the mainland, Mr. Ford said:

"Doctor Williams feels that the legacy of the press congress of the world will be the formation of a Pan-Pacific press congress. Among these preparing papers bearing on this are Walter B. Pitkin, of Columbia university; Henry Stead, of Stead's review, Melbourne, Australia; B. W. Fleisher, of the Japan Advertiser and Trans-Pacific magazine, Tokio, and Walter S. Rogers of the American state department. Latin-American countries, China, Japan, the Philippines, New Zealand and Canada have been requested to name delegates to the Pan-Pacific press congress and papers will be expected from them as well."

PECK'S BAD BOY SPEAKS HIS PIECE:—

Bein' bad don't hurt you. It's what comes afterwards that causes all the grief.

Generally it's your Ma that comes afterwards; and she sure does wave a wicked wand.

You wouldn't say bein' bad is a gift so much as a habit. It grows on you, like a soft spot in an apple.

So a crop ain't much different from the man who peddles apples on a barrow. They both make money by getting rid of bad habits.

But it's the barrow man who gets rid of his first. He seems ashamed of them, and puts them in the bottom of the bag.

Folks say I'm wicked and will go where all bad boys go. Won't they be pleased when they learn I'm in the movies!

But I'm in good company. Irvin S. Cobb is down here, too. He writes my subtitles. Maybe you've heard of my friend Irv. He sometimes gets pieces in the papers—mostly when the regular editors are away on vacation.

That's all. Gotta smash another window now.
